

COVER LETTER

Dear employer, I'm Nikola and this is my short story.

I have a full time job where I've been working for 6 years. Even through I have gained a huge experience in this line of work, I've started feeling less and less enthusiastic about it which is why I started programming in November 2017. Since then, I have felt so passionate about it and very dedicated to learning more, even when I am tired from work.

At the first moment it was hard and challenging, but when It comes to computers, I felt secure since I love everything about them. Now I fell in love with Java.

As a person, I'm very dedicated to learn, with clear vision what I want and unwilling to quit doing what I love the most. Hopefully, you can contact me for more.

Best regards, Nikola Jovanovic
